2. We also asked Mr. Mills whether an employee assigned to a PCS post in Europe may be granted home leave in connection with his PCS transfer to the United States, if, prior to the completion of 2 years' service at his European post, he departs that post and takes annual leave enroute, the 2 years, however, being completed sometime during the period of annual leave. Or, assume the same facts except that the 2 years expires while he is in his travel status in mid-ocean. Or, assume the same facts except that the PCS post was in [REDACTED] from whence he flew direct to [REDACTED] and took leave in Europe, the 2 years expiring during the period of annual leave in Europe. The answer in all cases was that he would be eligible for home leave. Mr. Mills advises that physical presence is not necessary; so long as he is assigned to a duty post outside the United States, that period counts towards home leave.
